Problem: Law enforcement people have to deal with a huge amount of criminal conduits and apparently unrelated evidence data

Approach: The prosecution aims at proving the accusatory “theorem” on the basis of evidence collected

Goals: Produce reusable knowledge about investigations

Evidence support provided by performed tests can evaluated to assess global soundness and completeness of the inquiry

References

Lawson, N. Safeware: System Safety and Computers Addison Wesley